Miyuki Estey is an experienced immigration paralegal who has been supporting attorneys and clients for more than a decade. Fluent in Japanese, Miyuki serves as a valuable liaison for Japanese clients, providing them with clear communication and guidance throughout the immigration process.

Miyuki assists with the preparation and filing of a wide range of immigration petitions and applications, including H-1B, L-1, and other nonimmigrant visas, as well as immigrant visa petitions and Adjustment of Status filings. Her deep familiarity with USCIS procedures and documentation requirements allows her to anticipate issues before they arise and ensures that filings are accurate and timely,

Prior to joining the legal industry, Miyuki was a teacher, and worked in various sales positions, where she honed her customer service skills and client-first mindset. She holds a degree in Education from Okinawa Women's Junior College.
